One Last Cast

Jim Cathcart (aka Navigator)

You have heard the saying, invest in your future. That can be as simple as stowing away a small amount of money each month. Then, there is investing in your children's or children's children's (aka grandkid's) future. Or, investing in some other child's future. You can love them, help them, teach them or simply spend quality time with them. Read to them. Listen to them. Play games with them. Laugh with them. Sing and dance with them. The point is, a simple way to shape the future is to invest your time with kids.

That is what Family Fish Camp was all about. For those of us Steelheaders that volunteered at Family Fish Camp out at Camp Angelos on the Sandy River, March 9th through 11th, our action was nothing more than a direct investment in the future of fishing. Steelheader Honorary Director, Jim Martin, when addressing the crowd of kids and their significant adults at the close of camp challenged the adults to spend one day a month outdoors for the next 12 months with the kids they are charged with. Basically, twelve days invested over a 365-day period will provide a return in the form of memories endearing them to the outdoors and more importantly endearing them to the value of taking care of the outdoors. Sustaining our outdoors and the many resources that make it up – including fish, fish habitat and access to fishing – will depend on us investing time with the kids of today with the hope that those kids, when grown up, will make a similar investment in the kids of tomorrow. And so, on and so forth.

"Whose future will you invest in?"

I am proud to be part of an organization that is making these types of investments. I joined the Steelheaders to improve my knowledge about fishing for salmon and steelhead. But, I became active in the Steelheaders because I wanted to share my passion for fishing with those new or interested in the sport. This year alone, there is Zach who caught his first fish and my son Peter who landed his first steelhead. Being a contributor to these outcomes is my investment in the future of fishing.

So, if there is a child in your life, take the Jim Martin challenge and invest one day in the outdoors with them for the next 12 months. No child in your life? Then connect with one through an organization designed to connect caring adults with kids who are in need. Working directly with kids not your thing? Then invest in organizations – either your time, money or both – that provide mentors, educators or adult friends for kids. Or invest in the inner child of your adult friends. Such action is the way to a positive future.

Take a Soldier Fishing

On Saturday, May 19, 2018, the eighth "Take a Soldier Fishing" event at Henry Hagg Lake is being held within Scoggins Park, near Forest Grove Oregon. Check-in is at area C between 7:00 and 8:00 AM. Fishing ends at 4:00 PM.

Veterans and active duty military from any branch of the armed services and their immediate family members may register and participate in this event. Register as a participant or volunteer by going to www.takeasoldierfishing.org. Participants click on the "soldier" tab and volunteers with or without boats click on the "volunteer tab".

Volunteers with boats need to provide all fishing and safety equipment for the number of persons that they can safely take in their boat. Participants will bring life jackets for all non-adult children.

Free Oregon Fishing Days for 2018: The 2018 days are scheduled for Feb. 17-18 (Presidents' Day Weekend),

June 2-3,

Sept. 1-2 (Sat.-Sun. of Labor Day Weekend) and

Nov. 23-24 (the two days after Thanksgiving).

While ODFW had originally planned to offer free fishing Dec. 31, 2017-Jan. 1, 2018, the Department has cancelled those dates to stay within the eight-day limit in 2018 and to offer free fishing during months when fishing conditions are better.

SALMON QUEST 2018

When: Saturday, May 12, 2018

Where: Camp Withycombe
15300 Minuteman Way
Clackamas, OR 97015

Salmon Quest is a renowned event that gives sport fisher folk an opportunity to give back to the resource -- while having a really great time. Proceeds from the tournament are used to improve sport fisheries through on-the-ground restoration projects in the Willamette and Sandy River basins. Past Quest funds were spent to greatly expand volunteer participation in stream nutrient enrichment -- returning excess hatchery salmon carcasses to their local rivers to provide food and nutrients for young salmonids and wildlife. This day-long friendly competition culminates with a banquet and award ceremony, and registration includes a day of fishing with a guide, commemorative gift, and a delicious dinner.

Garlic Butter Steelhead Trout in Foil Recipe

Recipe by Kitchen Swagger at <https://kitchenswagger.com/recipes/garlic-butter-steelhead-trout-in-foil-recipe/>

1-pound steelhead trout filet, skin removed
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 a lemon, juice squeezed
1-2 cloves garlic, minced
1 teaspoon parsley, minced (optional)
salt and pepper to taste

1. Preheat oven to 375° F.
2. Spray a sheet of aluminum foil with cooking spray and place the trout filet in the center. Fold up all 4 sides of the foil. Season trout with salt and pepper and then squeeze juice from half a lemon over the fish until covered.

3. Melt butter in microwave safe bowl, stir in fresh minced garlic, and drizzle over the trout until evenly coated. Top with fresh minced parsley.
4. Fold the sides of the foil over the trout, covering completely, and seal into a closed packet. Place directly on oven rack and bake until cooked through, about 15-20 minutes.
5. Optional step: Open the foil exposing the top of the trout and broil for the last 4-5 minutes, for a browned top.
